

Relaxing the ownership rules on media companies is a direct, premeditated assault on the Constitution. Airwaves belong to the public, not Clear Channel or Fox. Six media companies already own the radio spectrum, thanks to the 1996 deregulation. Allowing 1 or 2 to take control of television and newspapers would signal the beginning of the end of free public debate in this country. Do any of you care?